Tutor biography

Christine Spillane

Christine graduated from the University of Reading where she undertook research into imagery in Virgil's Aeneid. Her doctoral thesis with the Open University examined Late Antique and Mediaeval illuminated manuscripts of the Aeneid. She is an experienced teacher of both secondary school students and adults.

Christine seeks to inspire her students with a similar enthusiasm for the Classical world as she holds herself, not least by encouraging her students to look at artefacts in museums and by organising visits to the Classical world. When reading texts, she encourages a co-operative spirit in her students to investigate style and sound, in addition to moulding a good translation.

Course syllabus

Aims:

1. to appreciate and enjoy the reading of texts in Latin.
2. to extend knowledge of Latin grammar, syntax and vocabulary.
3. to develop the ability to translate orally from Latin into English.
4. to develop an appreciation of literary style.
5. to appreciate the context in which the texts were written

Content:

Students must provide their own copy of the text:

Catullus Short poems
In Complete poems
Ed. Kenneth Quinn
ISBN 9781853994975
BCP via Bloomsbury
£22.49

For Catullus we shall read poems 1 – 60 and 70 - 116

The text may be downloaded freely at: TheLatinLibrary.com

Presentation of the course:

The class will read the text and create an agreed translation through contributions from participants. There will be a full discussion of the author's style and, where appropriate, an analysis of the language used.

As a result of the course, within the constraints of the time available, students should be able to:

1. demonstrate an increased appreciation and enjoyment of the reading of texts in Latin.
2. show an improved knowledge of Latin grammar, syntax and vocabulary.
3. translate orally from Latin into English more effectively.
4. demonstrate an enhanced appreciation of literary style.
5. show a greater understanding of the context within which the texts were written.
