Undergraduate Certificate in History of Art: Classical to Renaissance

2021-2022
Course code: 2122CCR605

COURSE GUIDE
Welcome to the Undergraduate Certificate in History of Art: Classical to Renaissance, a University of Cambridge award offered by the Institute of Continuing Education (ICE). The Certificate is taught and awarded at FHEQ level 4 (i.e. first-year undergraduate level) and attracts 60 credits. The award is completed in one academic year. For further information about academic credit please see our website: www.ice.cam.ac.uk/info/academic-credits-cats-points

The course offers three termly units and a syllabus and reading and resource list for each of these units are included in this course guide.

The course aims to allow students to:

- Familiarise themselves with major themes in visual culture from the Classical to the Renaissance;
- Feel empowered to conduct their own visual analyses of artworks across all media;
- Learn how to place artworks in their broader historical context, including political, cultural and theoretical.

Transferable skills for further study and employability

- The capacity for independent thought and judgement;
- The development of independent learning, study and time management skills;
- The deployment of skills in critical reasoning;
- The development of competence in using IT to support one’s work;
- The ability to work with others, productively and equitably;
- The qualities necessary for employment requiring the exercise of some personal responsibility and the demonstration of high levels of motivation and personal commitment through part-time study.

Study hours

The award of academic credit is a means of quantifying and recognising learning and within the UK, one credit notionally represents 10 hours of learning\(^1\). Each of the units in this course attracts 20 credits so students should expect to need to study for approximately 200 hours in total to complete each unit successfully. However, it is recognised that students study at different paces and use a variety of approaches, so this is a recommendation, rather than a hard-and-fast calculation.

Teaching staff

Course Director:

Dr Lydia Hamlett is Academic Director in History of Art at the Institute of Continuing Education and a Fellow and Director of Studies at Murray Edwards College, University of Cambridge. She has published a book on mural painting in Britain in the long seventeenth century, Mural Painting in Britain 1630-1730: Experiencing Histories (Routledge, 2020). Lydia previously worked in the museums and heritage sectors, including at Tate, the Fitzwilliam Museum, Kettle's Yard and the National Trust. She co-founded, and is on the steering group for, the British Murals Network (britishmurals.org). Lydia’s PhD was on ecclesiastical art and architecture in Venice in the Renaissance and she has supervised undergraduates at the University of Cambridge since 2003 on a broad range of subjects.

Tutors:

Dr Miriam Gill is an associate lecturer for the Vaughan Centre for Lifelong Learning at the University of...
Leicester, teaching Art History to Certificate and BA students and teaching non-accredited courses at the Attenborough Arts Centre. She relishes researching and delivering courses on all areas of Art History.

Dr Sarah Pearson is an architectural historian with specialist interest in the architecture of the European Renaissance and in the use of architecture to promote specific ideological or sociological principles. Her PhD was from the University of Reading and the subject of her doctoral thesis was the architect Francesco di Giorgio Martini on whom she has published articles and contributed to the book, Reconstructing Francesco di Giorgio Architect (Peter Lang, 2011). Sarah has enjoyed teaching and lecturing at universities and adult education institutions on a variety of art and architectural subjects since 2001. She retains active research interests in Italian art and architecture with particular reference to the rise of Fascism and its expression through Italian design.

Dr Ellie Pidgeon teaches History of Art and Architecture at the Universities of Oxford, Leicester and Cambridge, and at Leicester Vaughan College (LVC). She has published widely in the field of medieval and post-medieval wall painting, and has recently worked with Miriam Gill on ‘unlocking’ the high-status wall painting scheme at Raunds (Northamptonshire) (publication forthcoming). Ellie is also a consultant archivist, working primarily for London museums. She is a Fellow of the Society of Antiquaries of London (FSA).

Michael Squire is Professor of Classical Art at King’s College London, where he has taught in the Department of Classics since 2011; he has held research fellowships in Cambridge, Stanford, Berlin, Munich, Cologne and Harvard, and was awarded a Philip Leverhulme Prize in 2013. Michael’s research interests stretch from Graeco-Roman antiquity (especially ancient visual-verbal relations) to the classical tradition at large, including the formation of German aesthetics in the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries. Recent projects include The Frame in Classical Art: A Cultural History (2017, with Verity Platt), Rethinking Lessing’s Laocoon (2017, with Avi Lifschitz), Morphogrammata: The Lettered Art of Optatian (2017, with Johannes Wienand), The Embodied Object in Classical Antiquity (2018, with Verity Platt and Milette Gaifman), and The Art of Hegel’s Aesthetics (2018, with Paul Kottman). In spring 2018, he curated The Classical Now at Bush House and Somerset House in London, part of a larger research project dedicated to ‘modern classicisms’ (www.modernclassicisms.com).

Syllabus for first unit
Michaelmas term 2021

Classical and Early Christian Art

Start date 9 October 2021  End date 11 December 2021
Day See below  Time See below
Tutors Dr Miriam Gill  Dr Ellie Pridgeon  Professor Michael Squire

Teaching Sessions are taught through a combination of synchronous and asynchronous delivery. Please see below for details.

Aims

- To allow students to explore the history of the visual arts in Western Europe in the Classical and Early Christian periods;
- To develop students’ analytical skills as they read key texts of art theory and criticism, and undertake visual analysis of art and architecture;
- To enable students to acquire good study practice and the ability to relate the works of art they see to their appropriate cultural and historical background.

Content

This term examines the painting, sculpture, architecture (including the classical Orders) and applied arts of the Greeks and Romans. These diverse arts will be put into their social and historical contexts with reference to works from the Museum of Classical Archaeology and the Fitzwilliam Museum, both parts of the collections of the University of Cambridge. The impact of Christianity on art and architecture will then be explored, in particular in relation to the Emperor Constantine. The period 330-1000 saw the rise of several new styles including Byzantine and Anglo-Saxon across different art forms including illuminated manuscripts and ecclesiastical and monastic architecture.

Presentation of the unit

Teaching and learning will be delivered remotely through a combination of pre-recorded lectures (formal presentations with slides) and live seminars (tutor-led talk combined with group discussion), as well as reading and assignments undertaken individually by students outside the course sessions. Teaching will include skills sessions that relate to the topics currently being addressed by students (for example, iconography; writing skills; art databases; issues of display and interpretation; how to approach primary sources, etc), and tutor drop-ins that dedicate time for students to ask questions relating to that week’s work. Pre-recorded lectures will be released one week in advance of the live seminar in order that students have the opportunity to watch at a time that suits them; alternatively they may be watched in the scheduled times below.

Outcomes

As a result of the unit, within the constraints of the time available, students should be able to demonstrate:

- Knowledge of the principal works of each phase studied and their historical, social and artistic contexts;
- Awareness of a range of critical, theoretical and practical approaches to the analysis and evaluation of art history;
- Use of precise critical terminology and, where appropriate, linguistic and stylistic terminology.

Student assignments

Students are required to submit an assignment of 3,000-4,000 words on one of the titles below:

Assignment titles

1. How would you characterise the influence of Graeco-Roman art on western ideas of the body?
2. How important is religion to the art and/or architecture of the classical or early Christian world?
3. How significant are layout and visual detail in articulating and communicating either early Christian places of worship or decorated Christian books before 1000?
4. How influential was Graeco-Roman art and/or architecture on early Christian visual culture?

Closing date for the submission of assignment: Wednesday, 5th January 2022 by 12.00 (noon) GMT (Greenwich Mean Time).

For the award of credit the assignment is weighted at 100% of the unit total.

Students are expected to submit their assignments online and feedback on assignments is delivered online.

Bibliography & Online Resources

This is a short bibliography of general texts that you may wish to consult before the course opens. We list them here because you may wish to borrow or buy them; although it is crucial to note that there is absolutely no requirement to do so. There is also a list of some online resources relevant to this term’s topic. Many of these texts and resources - and many more - will be available to you in libraries and online once the course opens and you have a university ('Raven') password.

A bibliography of specific texts and seminar materials for each week will be listed on the VLE ('Virtual Learning Environment') for this course once it opens, including texts and/or images. Please note: all live seminar materials will be provided to you by the Tutor on the VLE.

- To enable students to acquire visual analysis skills good study practice and the ability to relate the works of art they see to their appropriate cultural and historical background.

Content

This term examines the painting, sculpture and architecture of the Renaissance in Italy and its impact on Western Europe as a whole, taking broad-spectrum approach to the themes of this period. It will examine the transition from Medieval to Renaissance in materials, production and form. The artistic output of the Renaissance will be considered in its social and historical context, with reference to contemporary texts. The importance of patronage in the Renaissance will also be explored, in particular, the role of women in the commissioning of art and architecture.

Presentation of the unit

Teaching and learning will be delivered remotely through a combination of pre-recorded lectures (formal presentations with slides) and live seminars (tutor-led talk combined with group discussion), as well as reading and assignments undertaken individually by students outside the course sessions. Outcomes

As a result of the unit, within the constraints of the time available, students should be able to demonstrate:

- Knowledge of the Renaissance as an international movement and an understanding of historical, social and artistic context;
- Awareness of a range of critical, theoretical and practical approaches to the analysis and evaluation of art history;
- Use of precise critical terminology in the evaluation of individual works of art and architecture.

Student assignments

Students are required to submit an assignment of 3,000-4,000 words on one of the titles below:

Assignment titles

1. How is the increase in the portrayal of naturalism in the Renaissance evident in the public sculpture of Florence?
3. Were the changes in the artistic output of the Renaissance (painting or sculpture) dependent on innovations in materials and techniques?
4. Using the example of one Italian city, how was art or architecture employed to promote power and prestige?

Closing date for submission of assignment: Friday 10th June 2022 by 12.00 (noon) BST (British Summer Time).

For the award of credit the assignment is weighted at 100% of the unit total.

Students are expected to submit their assignments online and feedback on assignments is delivered online.
